Managing Staff Wellbeing & Workload

Ensure whole-school engagement with strategies to create a healthy work-life balance.

“More than half of teachers have been diagnosed with mental health issues”

THE INDEPENDENT, JAN 2018

A recent study carried out by Leeds Beckett University revealed that a significant proportion of teachers in Britain today are currently experiencing mental health issues. The study highlighted high levels of workload as one of the main contributors to this, alongside the subsequent negative impact on children's learning outcomes.

This study is one of many that underline the imperative of putting staff wellbeing at the top of the agenda.

This event will provide practical, innovative and sustainable strategies to help improve staff work-life balance, create a healthier workplace and improve retention.

Why should I attend this event?

- Stress: practical strategies for managing stress and reducing pressure.
- Case study: hear from the 'happiest school on earth' on how they promote a healthy workplace and drive real change from the top.
- Workload: maintain a positive work-life balance with strategies to combat the ever-increasing workload and stress of staff responsibilities.
- CPD: help staff feel valued and supported by developing a sustainable and meaningful CPD programme.

Who should attend?

- Deputy Headteachers
- Assistant Headteachers
- Headteachers
- Wellbeing Leaders
- HR Managers

“Absolutely fantastic, a thoroughly enjoyable experience to network, listen and take practical ideas back to school. Thank you!”
