KEY BENEFITS

OFSTED

New Ofsted framework guidance

CURRICULUM

Primary and secondary curriculum design sessions

RESILIENCE

Capacity-building resilience strategies

At her speech at the Schools North East Summit, Ofsted Chief Inspector Amanda Spielman announced that pupil personal development will be judged separately as part of school inspections from 2019 onwards.

'This change recognises the difference between behaviour and discipline in schools, and pupils' wider personal development and their opportunities to grow as active, healthy and engaged citizens.'

Ofsted has announced plans to remove judgements inspectors make on pupils' personal development, behaviour and welfare. Instead, schools will be examined on the behaviour and attitudes of students, along with the students' personal development.

There is a plethora of benefits that come from developing pupils into independent and healthy young adults. As the world continues to be increasingly ever-changing and unpredictable, embodying your students with principles of emotional literacy, growth mindsets and resilience will prepare them for the jobs that are yet to exist along with how to cope with failure.

This conference will enable you to construct a curriculum that enriches your learners' personal development and academic skills and ensures tangible evidence of successfully fulfilling Ofsted's requirements. Overall, ensuring the greatest success for your pupils.

Why attend this inaugural event?

SPEAKERS

Joanna Feast

Education Consultant, Clean Well-Being

Joanna Feast is a teacher, trainer and consultant with more than 20 years' experience in the field of health education. She believes that wellbeing can be achieved and maintained by utilising solution-focused thinking, emotional literacy and assertiveness skills. Joanna runs her own wellbeing and fitness business, Clean Well-Being.

Rt Hon Nick Gibb MP

Minister of State for School Standards

Nick was appointed Minister of State at the Department for Education on 15 July 2014. He was elected Conservative MP for Bognor Regis and Littlehampton in 1997. In his role as minister Nick is responsible for curriculum, assessment and qualifications, as well as pupil PSHE and mental health.

Kelly Hannagan

Wellbeing Leader, Lessness Heath Primary School

Kelly is the Wellbeing Leader at Lessness Heath Primary School and has spent her professional career passionately focusing on enhancing the opportunities and life chances of pupils, staff and families in education. Through the power of her mental health training and therapeutic relationship skills, she has successfully led on the Wellbeing Award for Schools process, resulting in the school being the first to achieve this. Kelly has more than 10 years' experience in working with the most vulnerable of families with positive outcomes.

Matt Silver

Headteacher, Shaftesbury High School

As a change maker Matt quickly began to implement a vision and structure he had formed (but continue to develop) for education in SEND based on emotional intelligence. It was then he found that the ambition had to be greater than a module and has been pursuing a culture based on self-determination theory, and therefore intrinsic motivation, in and out of the school that goes beyond the classroom and beyond school. This led him to headship. He now looks to develop and evidence this practice locally and globally.

Sarah Soyei

Head of Strategy and Development, EqualTeach

Sarah holds an MA in Equal Opportunities and Society (Distinction) and has been working in the field of equality for 14 years, delivering equality training to more than 7,000 people throughout the UK. She has overseen the development and delivery of educational programmes working with more than 300,000 people. These have included programmes of work commissioned by the government, EHRC, more than 20 local authorities and private sector organisations. Sarah has authored several publications in the field, including bespoke equality toolkits for organisations such as Home Group Housing Association and TeachFirst.

Lesley Tyler

Deputy Head, Benenden School

Lesley is an advanced skills teacher in gifted and talented education, delivering training on this topic for the county and for the Specialist Schools and Academies Trust, where she was a lead practitioner in the education of able students. She also worked as a consultant on curriculum design and project-based learning for the Qualifications and Curriculum Authority and the National College of School Leadership, and designed and ran summer schools for gifted students. She ran a county-wide project for able students as part of the Independent and State School Partnership which involved 35 schools.
