CULTURE

A focus on creating a whole-school culture of wellbeing to benefit all staff

WORKLOAD

Look at the relationship between workload and wellbeing and establish ways to reduce it

DEVELOPMENT

Review the benefits of relevant continual professional development and its positive influence on staff outlook

With the unprecedented upheaval that we all have and will be facing, the wellbeing of staff is paramount to ensuring this period is navigated successfully and with the best possible outcomes for pupils.

The benefits of creating a culture where the wellbeing of staff is at the forefront is not only an obvious benefit for the individuals themselves. Supporting the needs and general wellbeing of your staff creates more engaged and productive individuals, which leads to less absences, better staff retention, and a more positive working environment.

This conference provides practical strategies to allow you to create and foster such an environment and empower staff to proactively look after the wellbeing of themselves and those around them. We will inspect areas and staff that may often be overlooked, while examining the impact that increased wellbeing has on a range of factors both individually and collectively, all to help benefit the whole-staff wellbeing within your school.

CULTURE

Practical strategies to create a whole-school culture of wellbeing and kindness that staff are engaged with

STAFFING

Approaches to insure that the environment you create has a positive impact on staff absence, retention, and recruitment

INCLUSIVITY

Establish strategies that ensure the wellbeing of all staff, regardless of job role, is looked after and nurtured
