Strategy

Establish your three-year strategy and convey it confidently to your team

Leadership

Encourage staff buy-in to develop strong relationships and successful teamwork

Inspection Ready

Ensure that your setting is prepared and well-informed ahead of inspection

Why attend this conference?

Leading Safeguarding returns in 2023 to ensure you have the tools and confidence to quality assure your safeguarding procedures and culture.

Understand what Ofsted or ISI are really looking for, and how you can provide a consistent message during inspection, so you can focus on your day-to-day job and long-term strategy.

Choose from nine interactive workshops that have been created in line with delegate feedback and market research to ensure you get what you need from the day.

Legal experts and safeguarding practitioners deliver a programme packed with timely keynotes, dedicated space for your questions and networking with other safeguarding professionals. Leave with refreshed techniques that you can embed in your setting immediately.

The Benefits

Quality assurance

Improve the reliability of your processes and monitor procedure and culture effectively.

Update

Refresh your knowledge and unpack the potential implications and changes from the IICSA report.

Record keeping

Ensure that you and your team are using efficient and clear processes that evidence your safeguarding systems.

Keynotes

→ What the IICSA recommendations mean for you

Take away valuable insight into what recommendations and requirements you need to be acting on right now, and how to do so effectively.

→ Deepen your three-year strategy

Develop your strategy with vital tips and techniques to strengthen your planning and determine what to focus on in your unique setting.

→ Record keeping and data use

Build consistency with recording language to improve the quality of written records and give your staff confidence.

→ Discussion: Improve your safeguarding system

Ensure that despite recruitment shortfalls, a high turnover and moving parts, you have a robust system in place.

→ The art of delegation

Manage your team's time strategically to avoid burnout and ensure an effective system.

Breakout Sessions

Low level concerns

Strengthen your responses to low level concerns with appropriate measures and clear next steps.

Solid safeguarding foundations

Create easy-to-follow policies and evidence outcomes consistently by designing your knowledge transfer calendar.

Online safety

Unpack the correlation between online safety and emotional health and wellbeing, and what practical methods you can implement.

Trust-level strategy

Drive safeguarding change in your trust with insight into procedures that you can enact immediately.

Inspection readiness: Ofsted

Hear from a setting that has recently undergone inspection, and take away their top tips and learnings.

Sexual violence and harassment

Be sure of what your legal rights are in cases of sexual harassment or violence, and understand at what point to escalate to exclusion or the police.

Student Voice

Use student voice in your safeguarding provision to promote a culture that is both responsive and effective.

Inspection readiness: ISI

Understand what the Independent Schools Inspectorate are currently looking for, and what you can put in place to improve readiness.

Quality assurance

Gain the tools and confidence to quality assure your safeguarding procedures and culture.
